FACTS AND FIGURES

of the New York Life Insurance Co.

1. The NEW YORK LIFE was the first Company, and for 35 years the only Company, to omit from its policies the clause making them void in case of suicide. Very few companies do it now. Being convinced that most suicides are the result of insanity, and that many cases of accidental death and murder cannot be distinguished from suicides, the NEW YORK LIFE adopted in 1850, one rule for all—namely, the prompt payment of every claim not vitiated by evident fraud.

2. The NEW YORK LIFE was the first Company to recognize the policy-holder's right to paid-up insurance, in case of a discontinuance of premiums, by originating and introducing, in 1860, the first non-forfeiture policies—the beginning of the modern non-forfeiture system—which has become a part of the insurance statutes of the country. On the present volume of business, the saving to policy-holders, by reason of the non-forfeiture principle, as originated and introduced by the NEW YORK LIFE, is about eight million dollars per year.

3. The NEW YORK LIFE was the first Company—and is still nearly the only Company—to attach to each policy issued a copy of the application upon which the contract is based.

4. The NEW YORK LIFE issues a greater variety of policies than any other life company, thereby adapting its contracts to the largest number of people. It has lately perfected a Mortuary-Dividend system, under which many of its policies are issued with guaranteed return of all premiums paid, in addition to the face of the policy, in case of death during a specified period.

5. The returns on the NEW YORK LIFE'S Tontine Policies have been unsurpassed by those of any other company, comparison being made between policies taken at same age and premium rate, and running through the same period of time.

6. The policies of the NEW YORK LIFE, as now issued, are notably free from restrictions as to occupation, residence and travel, and claims are paid upon receipt and approval by the Company of satisfactory proofs of death.

CANADIAN NEWS.

Link by Link Added to the Chain of Evidence Against John Reginald Burchell.

Lieut.-Governor Schultz' Yacht Goes Down in Lake Winnipeg With All on Board.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen Start for the Coast—To Injure the Canadian Tea Trade.

The Case Progresses.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 23.—Capt. John Cross was the first witness called on the resumption of the Burchell case this afternoon. He corroborated Davis as to the walk, distance and time taken. Polk McGuire swore that he was peeling bark between 10 and 11 o'clock on the morning of February 17th at the exact spot where the body was subsequently discovered, and nobody was there then; thus disproving the possible theory of defence that the murder occurred before February 17th. Joseph and George Eldridge, farmers in the township of Blenheim, who discovered the body, told of their ghastly find. Both said that the body had the appearance of having been thrown or carried where it lay; that no footmarks were seen near by; that there had been a light fall of snow that day, also light flurries two or three days before. George told how the tell-tale cigar case with Benwell's name on it was found. It was by the purest accident that an axe was dragged over it, displacing the snow which covered it, thus revealing its identity, and frustrating the plans of the murderer, who had cut Benwell's name from all his clothing. Justice of the Peace Wm. Crosby said the clothes were all unbuttoned, and that, brushing away the snow beside the head of the body, he found blood on the ice beneath. Constable Watson also described how the body lay in the woods. The hat was alongside, with no lining, and the inside band pulled outwards. The collar and tie were lying near by. The collar was torn off, and the back button hole had the button it, with a thread attached. The pantaloons were pulled up to within four inches of the knee, revealing the socks with a piece cut from the front. Similar cuts appeared upon the collar of the shirt and all the underclothing, where the name might have appeared. Constable Watson described meeting Burchell at Princeton on February 28th, when the latter came from Niagara Falls to identify Benwell's body. Burchell told Watson he had left Benwell at Niagara Falls; that Benwell was "going west to London, and that he had received a letter from Benwell, dated London. When the body was exhumed, Burchell leaned over, looked at it, grasped Watson by the arm and said: "It's him," and pulled out his handkerchief and wiped his eyes. Burchell asked the witness to take charge of the grave, saying he would be willing to spend considerable money in fixing it up. Detective Murray's appearance at Paris was next described. Burchell at first refused to answer Murray's questions, except in Watson's presence, but learning he was a government officer, went up stairs with him. James H. Schwartz, the Princeton undertaker, who cared for Benwell's body, swore to Burchell's visit to see the body.

The Reason Why.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—A special to the Globe from Washington says: "A gentleman familiar with the reason which led to the adoption of the so-called tea amendment to the tariff bill offered by Senator Evarts says it is generally understood that this amendment will seriously interfere with the movement of tea on through bills of lading from China and Japan via. Vancouver and the Canadian Pacific Railway to the United States. This impression is incorrect, the fact is the amendment was aimed at certain English firms who have been importing teas into England and temporarily holding them for ultimate sale in small lots to retail dealers throughout the United States, thus coming into direct competition with the American importers and jobbers. The amendment was intended to put a stop to this and was not aimed at Canada although the latter country may be incidentally affected.

Lost With all on Board.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23.—News has been received here to-day of the wreck of Lieut-Governor Shultz's yacht Keewatin on Lake Winnipeg. There were three mounted police on board besides the crew, all of whom it is feared have been lost. Portions of the yacht were picked up yesterday with a quantity of mail matter for the north.

Swindled His Creditors.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 23.—Geo. Stewart, a Montreal furniture dealer, who failed yesterday with liabilities of over $60,000, has been arrested here on a warrant issued in Montreal charging him with making away with his property and defrauding his creditors.

An Insane Suicide.

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 23.—John Ott hanged himself while insane. He suffered sunstroke two years ago, which terminated in lunacy.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—It has transpired that Major Von Normann, commander of the cadets school, committed suicide because the soldiers had given information that he was guilty of an unnatural crime.

Kill Not Cure.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—An autopsy on the body of Marie Hock, the actress who is supposed to have been poisoned through a chemist's error in compounding a prescription, failed to reveal any trace of poison. It is supposed that the powder administered by the physician had a different effect from what was expected, and hastened the patient's death.

EAST KOOTENAY NOTES.

Progress of Mining—Car-load of Copper Ore Shipped to Swansea—Large Saw Mill for Golden.

J. C. Hayes, of Cochrane & Co., real estate and mining brokers, who has spent the last month in East Kootenay reports that mining developments are being pushed rapidly ahead.

The Golden Mining and Smelting Co. have almost completed their works and will be shortly ready for ore; in fact they are now making advances on all ore shipped them.

Mr. C. G. Law has forwarded to Swansea, Wales, a car load of copper ore for treatment. The result of this shipment will mean a great deal, it being the first car of ore shipped from East Kootenay.

Timbers for the framework of a large saw mill are being taken out, and this mill will be operated at Golden by the North West Lumber Co. The plant is said to be one of the finest in the province. At present everything points towards a good opening in the spring.

CITY SEWERAGE.

Meeting of the Enlarged Sewerage Committee and the Newly Appointed Commission.

Yesterday afternoon there was held at the City Hall, under the presidency of Alderman Harrison, a meeting of the Corporation Sewerage committee. There were present, besides the chairman, Aldermen McKillican, Goodacre, Holland, Smith and Kelly. The object was to meet and discuss matters with the Sewerage Commission recently appointed, who were all present, viz., Messrs. Turner, Earl and Teague.

After preliminary conversation, in which hopes were expressed that the commissioners in whom the committee had every confidence, would realize the expectations that had been formed, it was resolved that a report be prepared for the next sitting of the Council, advising that Mr. Mohun be appointed sanitary engineer to carry out the sewerage system, and that his salary be $3,000 per annum.

A discussion took place as to the relative powers of the Council and the Commission, opinions, some of them rather divergent, being given as to the powers and prerogative of the Commissioners. On the point as to whether the Commission had power to discharge employes "in toto" or recommend that the committee dismiss them, the views of the members were somewhat apart, and the point will have to be settled by the corporation's legal adviser.

The Commissioners were informed by Alderman McKillican, that Mr. Rudolph Hering had been provisionally appointed as consulting engineer in the carrying out of the system, arrangements with him not having as yet been finally completed.

It was felt by both the committee and the Commissioners that it was necessary to take the most expeditious steps to begin the work without delay, so that operations will commence almost immediately.

WESTMINSTER NOTES.

Preparations Complete for the Great Mainland Fair.

The Surrey Exhibition a Success—Drowned in the River—R. Dickson, Mud Bay, Breaks His Leg.

(From our own Correspondent.)

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 23.—The annual fair at Surrey was held yesterday and was a grand success, and far in advance of previous exhibitions held there. The fruit display in particular was very fine.

Robert Dixon, of Mud Bay, broke his leg a few days ago while getting into his carriage. The horse bolted before he was seated and he was thrown violently to the ground, breaking his leg above the knee.

John Johns, chief stoker on the steamer Irving, has been missing since Thursday last, and is given up for drowned. He was on the steamer when she left Westminster, but was missing on reaching Liverpool. He is supposed to have slipped overboard in the fog.

All preparations are complete for the great fair. The number of entries is far in excess of what was expected. The city is already thronged with visitors and every boat arriving brings large numbers to swell the crowd. Some of the Victoria contingent arrived to-day.

THE GOVERNMENT STEAMER.

Regrets that the Contract Has Not Been Awarded to a British Columbia Establishment.

The announcement in THE COLONIST that the contract for the new government steamer for service in this province has not been awarded to a British Columbia firm—and not even to one in Canada—has been received with regret by not a few people who had hoped that even, at some sacrifice, it would be possible to have her built at home. This, it is contended, would have had the effect of encouraging ship building here, where it has been pointed out, on many hands, such a large number of advantages are enjoyed, to say nothing of the vessel being upon the spot for service the moment she is launched and fitted. Moreover, it is said by some that the fact of the contract being sent over to the Clyde is a slap in the face of native shipbuilding enterprise and cannot fail to exercise an injurious effect when it comes to a question of giving out other extensive works. It is claimed by one local establishment that, so soon as they were informed that the government contemplated building a steel steamer instead of wood as originaly proposed, they applied for copies of the specifications, but from that day to this they have received no reply. It is to be hoped that this is the last occasion upon which the establishments of Victoria shall be so effectually passed over.

Lord Stanley Speaks on the McKinley Bill—Meetings and Their Significance.

(From our own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—The Governor-General, on opening the Central Fair to-day said that the effect of the passage of the McKinley tariff bill would be to put Canada on her mettle, and induce her to develop her own great resources. He believed that the enterprise of the people of Canada would induce them to seek new channels of trade.

Col. Prior had an interview with Sir Adolphe Caron to-day, and ascertained that instructions had been given to proceed with the erection of the "C" battery buildings some weeks ago. Col. Prior followed the matter up and ascertained that the delay was caused by the Public Works Department. Work will at once be commenced and tenders will be asked for the erection of the new drill hall.

Mr. G. E. Corbould arrived here this morning and saw several ministers in reference to matter affecting his constituents.

Two monster meetings are arranged for next week, at which the Premier will be present., one at Halifax on Wednesday, the other at St. John on Friday. People think this points to general elections this fall, but it does not.

CABLE NEWS.

Off for America.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—There was a brilliant scene at Euston Square, to-day, when the Comte De Paris started for Liverpool on his way to America. All the royalist exile colony in England had gathered to see the Comte off, and the assemblage lacked neither numbers nor enthusiasm. The Comte looked happy and confident, and may have been congratulating himself on his narrow escape from being smirched in the general mire of the Boulangist expose. Half-a-dozen prominent Legitimists, who accompany him on his trip, seemed to share his buoyant spirits. The party were attended by an astonishingly large retinue of servants, and will live in truly royal style. Cries of "Vive le Roi" rent the air as the train moved away and the Comte bowed gracefully, while the English crowd surrounding the devoted knot of Frenchmen looked on curiously and wondered whether they were looking on a future king or merely a pretender.

Trouble Anticipated.

VIENNA, Sept. 23.—Two thousand miners at Troppau, Austrian Silesia, have gone on strike. Trouble is feared, and troops have been despatched to the scene to preserve order.

O'Brien in Jail.

DUBLIN, Sept. 23.—P. O'Brien, M.P., has been arrested.

A Crisis Imminent.

LISBON, Sept. 23.—A commercial panic prevails; the leading banks are in a precarious condition, and a crisis is imminent.

Timothy Healy Talks.

DUBLIN, Sept. 23.—Timothy Healy, speaking at a league meeting in Dublin to-night, said that if any tenants submitted to the demands of the landlords, they were traitors to their fellow countrymen. He promised that he and his colleagues would continue to struggle against landlordism in Ireland.

No Casualties.

SUAKIM, Sept. 23.—The rebels made an advance upon the city to-day, but were dispersed by fire from the forts. There were no casulties.

Little Time Left.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 23.—The transatlantic passenger steamers are carrying extraordinary large cargoes of goods, exporters being anxious to start shipments before Oct. 1st, the date of the new American tariff. Rates have advanced from sixty to seventy shillings per ton.

The Strike Spreading.

VIENNA, Sept. 23.—The miners strike is extending to the frontier districts, and much disorder has occurred. Troops charged the crowd to-day, and numerous arrests were made. Five thousand men are on strike.

Sport's Dismay.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—There is dismay in sporting circles at the decision of the magistrate in the McAuliffe-Slavin case. The feeling among lovers of the manly art is not merely one of regret at the prohibition of the fight between these two noted pugilists, but of apprehension as to the fate of boxing contests in the future. The use of such gloves as are condemned by the court in the present instance has always been considered legal, but now that the test case has been made, it seems to be in the power of any citizen, police official or zealous rival to prevent boxing contests in the future, and thus destroy the amusements of frequenters of such clubs as the Pelican and Ormonde. It is stated that Lord Lonsdale and others interested in the McAuliffe-Slavin match will shortly arrange to have the fight come off outside of England, probably in France or Belgium. The necessity of resorting to such expediency is very discouraging, and involves so much expense, risk and general inconvenience, that the number of matches likely to be fought under such conditions will hardly be very large. The French law against prize fighting is as stringent as English law, and the annoying experiences of Sullivan, who was arrested and locked up in Paris while still suffering from the effects of his exhaustive fight with Mitchell, are still remembered as deterrents to over-indulgence in pugilism on French soil. Belgium is almost as inhospitable, besides being more difficult to reach. It may be some time before the McAuliffe-Slavin affair is settled abroad in view of all difficulties involved, but it is believed that the matter will be arranged finally as both sides are in earnest, and there is no intention of calling the match off. Some believers in the illegality of the magistrates' decision are urging the managers of the Ormonde club to go ahead with the fight, and take their chances in the higher courts, but this rash advice is not well received.

Colon in Ashes.

COLON, Sept.—23.—Three-fourths of the city is in ashes. The fire began at midnight and raged until late this morning, all efforts to check its ravages being futile. It finally died out for lack of material to attack, having reached the portions of the city where the buildings were too far apart to facilitate the spread of the flames. The shipping at the docks was saved. Terrible scenes of disorder marked the progress of the conflagration. Crowds of rioters and plunderers roamed the streets, and in dispersing these gangs, the police found it necessary to fire upon them and several persons were killed. The fire was uncontrollable from the start, and swept with wonderful rapidity through the buildings in three directions, including the quarter devoted to private residences. Among the public buildings destroyed are the postoffice and steamship agencies. The guests in the hotels were panic-stricken, but all escaped. The total loss is estimated at $150,000. No lives were lost. It is thought that the origin of the fire was accidental.

AMERICAN NEWS.

All Were Killed.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 23.—John W. Lattin, 78 years, Wilson Vandewater, 42 years, and the latter's wife, 45 years, all of Pleasant Valley, this county, were instantly killed on the Central New England & Western railway track to-day. At the time of the accident they were seated in a two-seated vehicle driven by the latter. The wagon was struck by the Boston express, which was half an hour late. Lattin was thrown 70 feet, and Vandewater and his wife were thrown still further. All three were instantly killed, and their bodies horribly mangled. The horse was killed, and the wagon demolished. Lattin leaves property estimated at $300,000.

No Lives Lost.

TACOMA, Sept. 23.—A serious collision occurred on the Northern Pacific railway at 10 o'clock this morning between here and Puyallup. Two freight trains running at full speed met an a sharp curve. Both engines were badly smashed, but no one was hurt.

A Roundabout Story.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Birmingham Gazette learns that Alderman Manton told Mr. O'Brien that he had written Home Secretary Matthews that Chief Constable Farnsdale of Birmingham informed him (Manton) that the Irish police employed a confederate to "plant" dynamite on Daly. The dynamite was procured in America. Mr. Farnsdale denies Mr. Manton's statement.

PERSONAL.

W. C. Hayward left for Vancouver this morning.

W. A. Baillie Grohman, J. P., of Kootenay is in the city.

J. A. Graham came home by the Yosemite last evening.

W. C. Ward and D. R. Harris returned from the Mainland last evening.

Hon. John Robson left for the New Westminster Agricultural show this morning.

A. C. and Mrs. Henry the former purchasing agent of the C. P. R. are in town.

O. McHenry and wife of Portland, C. N. Pooder and wife of St. Paul, are at the Driard.

J. C. Cornish and F. R. Sargison returned from the Dominion Rifle Meeting at Ottawa yesterday.

Lt. Governor Nelson arrived in Westminster yesterday, having to open the Agricultural show.

Forbes Angus, son of Mr. R. B. Angus, arrived last evening. While in Victoria he wil be a guest at The Oaks.

Among the guests of the Driard are Gideon Robertson and Dr. A. C. Lawson of Vancouver, and Mr. J. H. Peck of Montreal,

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Mr. Parmalee, Commissioners of Customs, Dr. Hickey, M. P. and the remainder of the minister's party are expected to arrive here this evening.

James S. Slouson and wife, James Slouson and Dr. James Owens, of Los Angeles are at the Driard, also Weston Bascom and J. H. Lindley and wife of St. Louis.

Duncan McIntyre and R. B. Angus, two of the C. P. R. magnates, are about to make a tour of the world and will start with the new steamship Empress of India on her first trip.

W. J. Callingham, general manager on the coast of the Scottish Union and National Insurance Co., and the City of London Fire Insurance Co., arrived last evening accompanied by his wife, and registered at the Driard. All old residents will remember Mr. Callingham as the dry goods merchant of corner Fort and Broad streets. He left Victoria in 1887 for San Francisco where he has since resided. Time has dealt leniently with him, as it does with all good fellows, and though many of his old friends are dead and gone, he is as bright and cheerful as in the old days, and bids fair to live out another generation.

A. M. Spangler, of the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Star, arrived over from the Sound on Monday evening, accompanied by his wife, and registered at the Burnes House. Mr. Spangler has been fifty years in harness and is the oldest editor in Pennsylvania, being now in his 72nd year. Notwithstanding this he is as active and bright as men a generation younger. It was not his intention to make a visit to Victoria. He had heard that the place was old and weary, but he was glad to confess that he was not only agreeably disappointed with the activity of the city, but charmed with its many points of interest and its loveliness. Mr. and Mrs. Spangler will remain over to-day and leave for the north on Thursday morning.

YESTERDAY'S DISPATCHES.

Dion Boucicault's Obsequies—An Actress' Death Caused by a Mistake in a Prescription.

Dedication of the Leland Stanford University—An Irish Convention.

Dion Boucicault at Rest.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The funeral of Dion Boucicault took place this morning in the Church of the Transfiguration, better known as "the little church around the corner." Never before had that edifice, so many times the scene of actors' funerals, held a larger congregation than that assembled at Boucicault's obsequies. Rev. Dr. Houghton, and his assistant, Father Prescott, conducted the services, which were the simple rights of the Episcopal Church. There was no discourse. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The remains were placed in a vault in Woodlawn cemetery.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Agnes Robertson, first wife of Dion Boucicault, has sailed for New York in response to a cablegram from her lawyer.

An Occasion Worthy of the Visitors.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 22.—The excursion party to California to be present on the occasion of the dedication of Leland Stanford Jr. university, will comprise the president and vice-president and their ladies and families, all the cabinet and their ladies and families, 20 Senators and 4 Representatives, and other distinguished guests, including a detachment of Washington correspondents, to fill 20 Pullman cars, with hotel cars, etc., to accommodate them. The whole excursion is to be at the expense of Stanford. In addition to the above guests, it is Stanford's intention to invite a number of renowned literary and educational celebrities in Europe, among them the Deans of Oxford and Cambridge and a number of equally celebrated from universities of France and Germany.

From the Wreck of the Ajax.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The steamer Newport arrived this morning, bringing the passengers and crew of the wrecked steamer Ajax from Selton Cove. Capt. Donaldson of the Ajax was extremely reticent and declined to give any more information than was already known. From his disjointed statement it was learned that the Ajax left Coos Bay last Wednesday morning, and on Thursday morning at 9.15, while in a thick fog she struck on Blount's reef about five miles north of Cape Mendocino. All hands were put on the pumps and an endeavor made to reach Shelter Cove, but she made but little progress, and at 3.15 p. m. sank. The sinking was unexpected as Capt. Donaldson says he lost the ship's papers and instruments and all the personal effects of the passengers and crew. Well, Fargo & Co.'s treasure, amounting to nearly $7,000, was however saved. There was no excitement at any time on board the steamer, as the sea was smoothe and no difficulty was experienced in reaching the shore. The party was cared for at the hotel at Shelter Cove till the steamer Newport touched there yesterday morning, and conveyed the party to this city.

Burying the Victims.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 22.—The bodies of the victims of the Reading railroad disaster at Shoemakersville, on Friday night, were buried to-day. The first funeral was that of Fireman Templin, whose body was taken to Fleetwood and interred. At noon the body of Mail Agent Greenwald was buried in the Odd Fellows' cemetery at Tamaqua. This afternoon the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Fredericks were buried, and two hours later Mr. and Mrs. Fox were interred in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. Pottsville has never before witnessed such sorrowful scenes. All places of business were closed until 5 o'clock and to-morrow they will be closed from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The funeral of Engineer John White will take place at 10 o'clock, and that of Solomon Hoover at 4 p.m. The obsequies of General Solicitor Geo. R. Korcher, of the Reading railway company, will take place at 2:30 o'clock. A special train will be run from Philadelphia to accommodate those wishing to attend the funeral.

At Honolulu and Samoa.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The steamer Farallon arrived in port this morning, eleven days from Honolulu. The United States man-of-war Nipsic sailed on the day previous to the departure of the Farallon, the Iroquois, her relief, having arrived at Honolulu the day before. The legislature was still in session when the Farallon left Honolulu. Everything there was quiet, but the body was being severely criticized for its actions, particularly for changes in the government. It has been rumored here from time to time that the Islands were on the verge of trouble. It has always been denied by those interested in the present government, but there is without doubt a strong feeling against the new ministry. A meeting of the Mechanics' Union was held on the night of the 5th, and it was decided to hold a mass meeting on the evening of the 9th to discuss the constitution and ask the national reform party to bring in a resolution of want of confidence against the ministry. The Iroquois arrived at Honolulu on the 8th inst., seven days from Pago Pago bay. She had a stormy passage. Everything at Samoa is reported by her to be quiet.

Blazing Oil Tanks.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Sparks from a Cleveland and Pittsburg locomotive set the storehouse of the Excelsior Oil Co., located near the junction of Bessemar and Atlantic streets, on fire, this morning, and the flames immediately spread to the tanks and storehouses in the immediate vicinity. Three cars, standing on the track near the house in which refined oil was stored, exploded with terrific force, throwing pieces of iron, weighing from 300 to 1,000 pounds, down the hill side over 500 feet. A number of the employes of the oil company were caught under the sheet of flame while digging ditches around the big tanks that were filled with oil, and six of them were pretty badly burned. The loss will amount to $75,000.

An Irish Convention.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 22.—The leaders of the Irish party in this city are agitating the question of holding a general convention to protest against the course of the English Government in arresting Dillon and O'Brien, and to awaken fresh enthusiasm in the friends of Ireland in this country. Should this convention be held it will be under the auspices of the Irish National League of America, and the place to be selected will be Baltimore. Whether the convention takes place or not depends altogether upon the wishes of Parnell and the Irish leaders on the other side of the water. While the members of the Irish National League here are very quick in favor of holding a general convention at this time, they wish to act in harmony with Parnell and his friends.

Killed by an Esquimau.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Sept. 22.—Word has been received from Point Barrow, in the Arctic ocean, that Joseph George, a Portuguese in the employ of the Pacific Steam Whaling Company, was murdered June 1 by an Esquimau, jealous because George had won the affections of the Esquimau's wife. The murderer was condemned by the court of inquiry and shot within twelve hours after the murder.

Drouth Devastating Argentine Republic.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 52.—Minister Roca states that the government will provide for the payment of interest on provincial loans. It is expected that congress will impose strong protective duties. A drouth prevails in the country and live stock are dying in large numbers.

Chinese Swarming into Siberia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 22.—The Viedomosti says: China has secured so much trans-Balkan trade that the governor of that district has petitioned Russia to prohibit the immigration of Chinese.

Will Not Hybernate.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—Bismarck in an interview, referring to the prospect of his return to public life, said a seat in the reichstag would entail regular attendance and the discomfort of hotel life, but in the upper house of the diet he might appear when he chose, and he did not intend, like a bear, to sleep and lick his paws during the winter.

An Actress Killed by Poison.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—Actress Marie Hock, who made her debut in New York, is dead. Her death was due to a mistake made in a prescription.

The Australian Strike.

SYDNEY, Sept. 22.—The steamer Carthage sailed on time. The prospects of a conference between the employers and the union are more favorable, and it is not expected that the union will execute its extreme threats.

Parnell Will Not Come.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Parnell desires to wait until after the trial of Dillon and O'Brien to see whether it will still be possible for them to go to America. His health will not permit him to make a personal visit across the Atlantic.

Portugal's Position.

LISBON, Sept. 22.—The newspapers here, in announcing the arrival of the British squadron at Mozambique, say that the cabinet has sent a cable dispatch to the governor of Mozambique, informing him of the resignation of the ministry, and advising him to receive the British admiral with the respect due to the representative of a friendly power. If the admiral, however, should attempt to infringe the status quo, it is recommended that the governor use his own discretion in upholding the honor of Portugal.

Amours of Adelina Patti.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—A private letter from Milan states that a book is about to be published simultaneously in Milan, Berlin, Paris, London and New York, in the Italian, German, French and English languages, the title of which will be "The Fall of a Star." It is a biographical account of the history of Adelina Patti de Caux Nicolini. It has been written by a son of a well-known impresario with the assistance of a number of opera managers and critics. It is full of sensational details of the amours of the celebrated diva, with anecdotes by well-known persons to whom her private life has been intimate, in France, England, Russia and the United States. The story of how Nicolini cut out De Caux and finally married his mistress is given in full.

Not Justifiable.

SAN JACINEA, Cal., Sept. 22.—Last night a wealthy man named Hewitt became involved in an altercation with a man named Nichote, and, after some words, drew a pistol and fatally shot Jos. Nichote, a brother, who had approached to learn the cause of the disturbance. The feeling is strong against Hewitt, as the murdered man had taken no part in the controversy.

Their Baggage Checked for China.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Collector Phelps to-day received a telegram from Washington, D. C., directing him to ship back to China the four Chinamen lately caught at Nogales while trying to steal over the border from Mexico.

A Prize Catch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The sealing schooner Hermann arrived this morning, 13 days from Kodiak, with 146 otter and 151 seal skins. This is one of the largest otter catches ever made.

The Deadliest of Serpents.

THE cobra destroys life less in the aggregate than the various forms of cholera, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, cramps, colic, etc. Mortality in Canada from these causes is light, owing to the general use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which is an unfailing specific for all bowel complaints.

A Fashionable Costume.

A very fashionable costume is here illustrated. It is composed of plain and plaid goods. The foundation skirt has a wide fold of the plaided goods also has the drapery, which is looped on the left side with a buckle. The bodice is composed of a slashed yoke, puffed sleeves, buttoned on the inside of the arms and is fastened by a buckle at the waist. Sailor hat trimmed with plaid ribbon completes the costume.

THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

PORT CRESCENT

A FEW UNDENIABLE FACTS:

President T. F. Oakes says the Victoria, Port Crescent and Chehalis Railway will be completed by the 31st December, 1891. This will make Port Crescent the terminus of the strongest corporation on the American Continent. Work on the breakwater will commence immediately and will be completed during next year; the Harbor will then accommodate 120 ships, allowing one cable (see Minard on Harbors) to each large merchant vessel in which to swing, not including twice that number which might be tied up to wharves. Port Crescent will then be possessed of one of the best harbors on the coast.

The soundings on the Company's Map are guaranteed to be correct.

More than 3,000,000 acres of the richest land in the State of Washington, lying to the West and Southwest, are directly tributary to Port Crescent.

It is confidently predicted that in ten years the population of Port Crescent will rival that of Tacoma and Seattle combined.

We strongly recommend to our friends and the public generally the advisability of securing a few lots at present prices. Lots, that to-day can be bought for hundreds, will be worth in a few months as many thousands. We have a limited number of choice lots at present on sale.

RELICS OF THE PAST.

Relics of a Telegraph Line that was Never Built.

(Seattle Post-Intelligencer.)

While travelling through Skagit county recently a correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer met J. H. Fravel, a well-known pioneer of Puget Sound, at his ranch, at the base of the Chuckanut range, near the town of Blanchard. While conversing with Mr. Fravel and enjoying through his doorway the matchless view over the azure waters of Samish bay and Rosario straits, and the dark green slopes of Guemes, Sinclair, Samish, Fidalgo and Hat Island, glowing in the light of an Italian afternoon, the pioneer related very interesting reminiscences of his personal connection with a gigantic enterprise now well nigh forgotten, in which, about a quarter of a century ago, millions of capital was interested. This great enterprise was the scheme for securing transoceanic telegraphic communication by the way of Behring's strait and Siberia. Cyrus Field had just made an attempt to lay another cable across the Atlantic with the Great Eastern, and the cable had snapped in mid-ocean. Many capitalists of the East, believing that Field's idea of a trans-Atlantic cable could never be realized, formed a corporation to extend a telegraph line from San Francisco up the coast to Behring's strait, and connect by cable with a line across Siberia to a connection with the telegraphic systems of the Old World.

"I think it was in 1865," said Mr. Fravel, "that the construction fleet of the company began operations on Puget Sound. The company had for the construction of the line a large force of men, organized and uniformed, like an army. The steamer George S. Wright was the flagship of the expedition. R. R. Haines was superintendent of construction. It was lively times on Puget sound that season. A large number of ships loaded with supplies and material comprised the fleet, among them the Fremont, Milton, Badger, Palmetto, Nightingale, Jennie Pitts, Egmont and others. The line to New Westminster was called the California State Telegraph Company. Beyond that it was known as the Collins Overland and Western Union Extension. The line followed the eastern shore of the Sound to New Westminster. That solitary pole standing in the mud on the bank of the slough yonder is a remnant of the original line. Another line was constructed by the way of Fidalgo and the San Juan Islands to Victoria. The line was constructed about 800 miles north of New Westminster to Skeena, when the complete success of Cyrus Field's Atlantic cable suddenly put a stop to the construction. The large organization engaged on the construction was mustered out, and the materials that could be recovered were taken away. Thousands of tons of wire and material distributed along the line through the woods of British Columbia remain there to this day. Years afterwards a party of woodsmen brought to Victoria a cargo of the wire, which they offered for sale. The assigns of the company seized it immediately. The Seabeck mill sawed out thousands of the poles for the line, which were piled up on the mill wharf and lay there until burned with the mill a few years ago. The captain of the ship Egmont, which lay in Esquimalt with a cargo of submarine cable, got drunk and ran off with the ship's papers. The vessel lay in the harbor for two years, unable to clear. Her owners finally patched up Hawaiian papers for her, and she sailed away.

"The line was operated to Skeena for two years. The American end of the line was absorbed by the Western Union. It went out of existence two years ago when the company abandoned its system from Seattle northward. Geo. H. Mumford, afterwards vice-president of the Western Union, came out here in 1872 and wound up the affairs of the company. Every bill was paid in full.

Mr. Fravel was in the service of the company on construction, and for fifteen years afterward as operator at Blanchard.

MR. FAIRALL HEARD FROM.

To the Editor.—In your issue of this morning a statement is made that I drew a revolver on Little yesterday, and that he was struck on the back by an axe. This statement appears to me is made with the intention to prejudice the public against me to the detriment of my business. I must state that I have never had a revolver IN MY LIFE, and that I have not seen one since Nicholls drew one on me and covered me with it till I got to my house.

I am, sir, yours, &c.,
H. S. FAIRALL.

JAPANESE NEWS.

The last issue of the Japan Herald summarizes the news for the week as follows:

All parties are preparing for the meeting of the Diet, and an attempt is being made to dissolve some of the different Liberal political clubs, and unite them in one strong association. Although there have been some strong objections, it appears probable that the scheme will, in its main features, be carried out. It is now said that the Diet will be opened on the 3rd November.

The country has been visited with some severe storms, the inundations from which have twice stopped all railway communication from this. Fortunately the growing crops appear to have escaped material damage.

Cholera still spreads throughout the country, and consequently the quarantine stations, except that at Hakodate, have been abandoned. There have been upwards of 10,000 cases and 6,000 deaths. With one or two exceptions the victims have all been natives.

MORE FARMERS WANTED.

British Columbia ought to raise its own breadstuffs. It has been proved that as good wheat can be raised in this province as in any part of America. Wheat grown in the vicinity of Victoria this year weighs sixty-four pounds to the bushel. This, as every farmer knows, is a splendid sample of wheat. Sixty pounds is the standard weight of a bushel of wheat. There is sufficient land, we are assured, near the coast to raise bread enough for a population of two hundred thousand. If this is the case, the land should be made available without delay. If it pays the farmers of Oregon, Washington and Manitoba to grow wheat for consumption in British Columbia, it should surely pay British Columbia to raise its own wheat.

We would not be at all surprised if it turned out that better wheat can be grown in this province than in Manitoba. In that province, although the growth is rapid, the season is very short, and the crop is liable to be killed by August frosts. Here the season is long and there is no early frost to hurt the growing grain. It seems to us that winter wheat could be cultivated with advantage in this province. The climate is like that of England and in England splendid winter wheat is grown. There is not much snow here and a good fall of snow is considered necessary in Ontario for the successful cultivation of winter wheat. But if we have not the snowfall of Ontario neither have we the heavy frost of that province. The use of the snow is to keep the plant warm during the season of frost but in a climate where the frost is not severe the snow is not required. It would we think be worth some enterprising farmer's while to try how winter wheat would grow, say in Saanich or in the Westminster district. Perhaps the experiment has been tried already, if it has we would like to know the result.

There is quite as little doubt that British Columbia can produce its own butter as that it can raise its own bread. There are fine tracts of land in the province suitable for dairy farms. Large quantities of butter and what is sold for butter are imported, so the dairy farmer would have a market ready for all the butter he could make. We are quite certain that the housekeepers of the province would greatly prefer the undoubtedly genuine home produced article to the questionable imported one. The prices at which British Columbia butter sells ought to be sufficient to encourage its production at home. If the Eastern farmer had the prospect of getting thirty, thirty-five and fifty cents a pound for his butter, he would care very little about American reciprocity. He would consider that his fortune was made. It is said that agricultural land is scarce in this province, but there is quite enough of it to raise plenty of bread and butter for many times its present population.

This province, too, imports eggs and bacon. This is not because chickens and pigs cannot be raised in it. We should say that the supply of poultry and pork need only be limited by the demand. The demand is brisk now, and the prices are good, and the prospect is that in this province there will always be a good demand for these and other products of the farm. All that is required is men able and willing to devote their energies to the cultivation of the soil. British Columbia wants more farmers, men who understand their business and are prepared to carry it on energetically and intelligently. The large importation of farm produce of different kinds shows that one of the needs of the province is a farming population. Mr. Gosnell is reported to have said that there are no mills in the province to grind the farmers' wheat after he raises it. This is a mistake. There are mills, and very good ones, in different parts of the country, and more would be erected if there was more wheat to grind. Mr. Gosnell may have been thinking of the fact that there are places in the province at a distance from railway where wheat is raised and ground, but the expense of conveyance is so great that it does not always pay to convey it to market. This is an evil that will, we trust, soon be remedied. The province is becoming better known and better settled, and the time is, we are confident, not far distant when the farmers who cultivate its fertile valleys will have the railway accommodation they so greatly need. The exhibitions that are being held in the different farming centres will make the agricultural capabilities of the province more widely known, and attract to it the class of settlers it so greatly needs. The agricultural societies should be indefatigable in their exertions to convince the world that there are fertile areas in this province capable of yielding in great perfection all the products of the temperate zone. By making it known abroad that delicious fruits, splendid grain and fine cattle, horses and sheep are raised, and can be raised, in this province, they will be doing it a service of almost incalculable value.

THE CATHEDRAL.

It is cheering to see the leading men of the Church of England in this city undertaking to build a cathedral in so cheerful and so liberal a spirit as was manifested at the meeting on Monday evening. It cannot be said that the erection of a cathedral on Church Hill is a matter solely of denominational concern. The building will be a very conspicuous one. It will be either an ornament to the city or a deformity, a structure to which men of all denominations can point with pride or one which they will be ashamed of and have to apologize for to strangers. Every citizen of Victoria, therefore, should feel an interest in the building, and should desire that it will be worthy not only of the denomination to which it belongs, but of the city of which it must form so prominent a feature. We would not be at all surprised if this consideration should induce men who do not belong to the Church of England to contribute handsomely to the fund for the erection of the Cathedral. The days of intolerance and bigotry are passed. Men of all Protestant denominations are finding out that their differences are after all insignificant, and that they have a very great deal in common. So general and so strong has this feeling become that the proposal to erect a vast cathedral in New York for the use of men of all denominations was well received and met with much encouragement. The members of the Church of England cannot help the citizens regarding their cathedral as a sort of public building—an institution of Victoria, as it were—which they for their own sakes and for the city's sake, would like to see as handsome and as grand as it can be made by the expenditure of money and the skill of the architect. These are, of course, worldly considerations, but we are looking at the Cathedral just now from a worldly point of view. We want to see in the pride of Victoria, and we believe that the gentlemen who have it in hand will make it such.

FEMALE IMMIGRATION.

We are glad to see that those who are interesting themselves in bringing to this province female servants are alive to the importance of giving assistance and encouragement to none but young women of sound constitution and unimpeachable character. We presume that those who are actively engaged in the work are careful and shrewd and cannot therefore be easily imposed upon. Good women would be a valuable acquisition to the province, but bad women would be an unmitigated evil. The immigration of women of that class is too great already. There is quite a number here who could readily be spared and intelligent gentlemen and ladies should be very careful not to add to their numbers. The warning is by no means unnecessary. The wiles of some vicious women are numberless and very difficult of discovery. They are consummate actresses and would impose upon all except the most experienced and discerning. The ordinary Lady Bountiful is a child in their hands. When she comes in contact with them it is she that should be cared for and protected, not they. The people who have to deal with these female immigrants should be hard-headed—and we were going to say hard-hearted, but that would not exactly express our idea—but they should not be soft-hearted, for if they were, they would be imposed upon by piteous and plausible tales, and would be prevailed upon to recommend persons who would prove discreditable to their society and nuisances to the community to which they were sent. Much as good girls as servants are wanted in this province, its inhabitants would much rather do without servants a good while longer than be obliged to put up with importations who are lazy, impertinent or vicious.

As the young women who will be sent here are not to be expected to remain servants all their lives, those who select them should keep in view the probability of a considerable proportion of them becoming the wives of decent men. In order that they may become good wives and good mothers, they ought to be strong and healthy. People think a good deal about heredity in these days, and no one wants to see the next generation of British Columbians either sickly or vicious.

WOMEN ENFRANCHISED.

At the recent elections in Wyoming, the women voted. The Constitution of that State grants the franchise to the women. This speaks well for the way in which they exercise their political privileges. While Wyoming was a territory the women voted, and they have been voting for many years—seventeen or eighteen—if we don't mistake. They have not in that time become unsexed, nor have any of the dreadful evils come upon the people of Wyoming that are oracularly declared to be the inevitable consequences of extending the franchise to the ladies. Women are as womanly in Wyoming as they are in any State of the Union, and, for anything that we have heard to the contrary, they attend to their domestic duties quite as well. The meals are properly cooked, the babies well attended to and the shirts of the husbands carefully looked after. Those husbands are not bullied and forced to see to household matters while their wives attend political meetings and go round canvassing for votes. Wyoming is, for a new community, very well governed, and it is said that the influence of the women voters is always exerted for good. Whatever cause has the elevation of society and the improvement of the public morals for its object has the women on its side. The extension of political power to women is on its trial in Wyoming. So far it has been a success, and there is no reason to believe that it will be less beneficial in the future than it has been in the past.

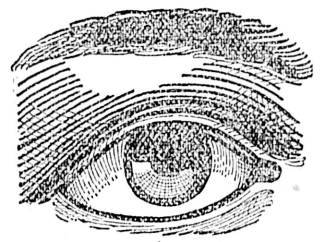

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Times is indignant because Mr. Whitelaw is not permitted by the Dominion Government to fish for whales in the Gulf of Georgia. It is difficult to see why our contemporary is so angry. Has it joined the Quaker community, or does it wish to anticipate the millenium? Have our neighbors on the other side of the line been so conciliatory and so obliging that we should, just to accommodate them, extend to them a valuable privilege? Has the treatment which Canadian sealers received in Behring's Sea, over which the Americans have no jurisdiction, been so kind and so hospitable that the Dominion Government is under any obligation to extend to Americans fishing privileges in the Gulf of Georgia over which it has jurisdiction? We are not surprised at the action of the Dominion Government. We would be surprised if it were different. It is not the custom of nations in this wicked world to kiss the hand that smites them. They are not in the habit of conferring favors on those who treat them scurvily.

DYING WITH HUMORS

Which Three Doctors Could not Cure, Cured in Four Weeks by Cuticura Remedies.

I wrote you about four years ago of the wonderful cure I made with your CUTICURA REMEDIES of a bad humor on my face which twelve doctors failed to understand or cure. Three years ago last fall my son went to Sacramento, Cal., and after two or three months he broke out with a humor on his stomach and back, suffering very much. He employed three different doctors, and at last they told him to go back to Maine, as his disease was caused by change of climate, and he could not live in California. He wrote me that he was coming home, for that he was dying with a humor that the doctors could not cure. I wrote him to get some CUTICURA REMEDIES and take according to directions, and bathe freely with the CUTICURA SOAP, and in four weeks after he got my letter he wrote me he was entirely cured. He came home a few weeks ago on a visit, and is at home now. His health is good. I have recommended these remedies to a great many people with bad cases that would not yield to doctors' medicines, and in no case have I known them to fail to make a cure. If you wish to refer any one to me, I will answer, with pleasure.

Programme.

PART I.

Ladies, you are respectfully invited to call and inspect the fall and winter novelties at the Lansdowne House, Yates St. John Partridge, prop.

Victoria Riding Club.

The newly formed riding club will assemble at the Fountain Saturday afternoon, and go for an afternoon's ride by routes to be agreed upon. This will become a definitely arranged programme, which will be carried out weekly.

A Mammoth Tuber.

J. C. Hayes, of Cochrane & Co., who has been on a visit into the Kootenay mining district, yesterday left a potato grown on a ranch south of Golden, which weighed two pounds and seven ounces. The tuber is solid throughout and apparently of excellent quality, notwithstanding its great size.

On Dallas Road.

Contractor McLarty received instructions yesterday to at once proceed with the erection of a two-storey residence, to cost in the neighborhood of $17,000, for Major Nicholles. This handsome new house is to be situated on Dallas Road, and will be a specimen of peculiarly graceful and artistic architecture.

A Promising Docket.

At 10 o'clock this morning a special Court of Assize will open in the Supreme Court room, with Mr. Justice Drake on the bench. The three cases now on the list are those of White, assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm; Mrs. Rutledge, murder — the indictment having been amended from manslaughter to the graver charge; and Hugo and others, intimidation.

"In Darkest Afrtca."

Messrs. Hibben & Co. have received the following telegram from the Asst. Commissioner of Customs:

Portage la Prairie, Man.,
August 16, 1890.

T. N. HIBBEN & Co., Victoria.
Importation of original British edition "Darkest Africa" is not prohibited by Tariff Act.

W. G. PARMELEE,
Asst. Commr.

To Complete the Work.

Mr. John Haggerty yesterday morning signed a second contract to complete the work of excavating for the new Canada Western hotel, at the same price he has received for the part of the work now finished. Thirty thousand yards of rock have already been removed, and only about 1,700 yards remain to be taken out. The work will be rushed forward just as quickly as the safety of the public will permit.

The Island Shows.

On Saturday next the Cowichan Agricultural Society will hold their annual show and fair at Duncan's Station, where elaborate preparations are now being made for the event. The exhibition of the British Columbia Agricultural Society, in this city on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th days of October, comes next in order. It is expected to prove the best ever held on the Island of Vancouver. On the 8th prox., the ever-enjoyable show of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society takes place, bringing to a close the list of Island fall shows.

Special Attention

Is requested to the following bargains at Russell, McDonald & Co's, 131 Douglas street:

320 Yards Black Gros Grain Silk

for one dollar per yard; worth three dollars.

24 doz of GOOD 4-button kid gloves in blacks and tans at 50c. per pair.

Morley's Celebrated Cashmere Hose

in blacks and colors, 50 cents per pair.

A splendid lot of sample Jerseys, in blacks and colors, from $1.00 to $6.00 each.

RUSSELL, McDONALD & Co.

And Still They Come.

Yesterday morning brought another arrival from the Northern sealing grounds in the shape of the Katrine, formerly the Black Diamond, of last year's celebrity. She reported a catch of 943 for the Behring's Sea, which would make her total for the season upwards of 1,600. The Beatrice, with about 800 skins and the W. P. Sayward, having 500, were sighted in the Straits, yesterday, all well, and with no fresh news from the schooners already out. The Finland is also expected at any time. Captain Hansen succeeded in getting his crew last evening and will sail to-day.

A False Alarm.

Last evening the about 9 o'clock the bell at the Deluge engine house struck once. A crowd immediately collected in the expectation of seeing our fire laddies turn out in short order, but the alarm proved to be a false one. While this is a matter of congratulation it might be well to call attention to the fact that many, who are suffering from colds contracted through indiscreet exposure these cold evenings are unduly alarmed at the probable consequences, when begg's cherry cough syrup, the best remedy to overcome these disorders, may be procured from cochrane and mumm, cor. yates and douglas streets.

John Gilpin Rivalled.

On Monday afternoon, between three and four o'clock, there was an illustration in this city of the story of John Gilpin. The difference was that the leading performer was a lady—a magnificent horse woman by the way—whose steed carried his rider "neck or naught" up Yates street, where "away went hat and wig," to the intense annoyance of the equestrienne. She, however, retained both seat and self-confidence, so that she was finally able to bring her rebellious horse to a livery stable, where every opportunity was afforded her of making up her toilet, after which she compelled her recreant charger to obey her every behest, he being thoroughly overcome with the gallop which she forced him to make despite himself.

Promises to be Interesting.

Matters at Victoria West have developed into a number of summonses being served on both parties. Mr. Fairall and his two sons are summoned by the opposing party, while the latter have served summonses on their opposers. The entire case will come up for hearing in the provincial police court this morning, and the proceedings are looked forward to as being very interesting. It seems, too, that the street car company's men put down the sidewalk after it was torn up a second time on Monday. The company were carrying out an order from the surveyor-general to have the sidewalk replaced, as complaints were being made by the public about the inconvenience and annoyance caused by its absence. It was, however, torn up again by Mr. Fairall, which action, the company allege, the government should treat with, as their (the company's) responsibility terminated when they carried out the government's order.

Russell-Jewell Dramatic Co.

Mr. W. M. Russell, manager of the Russell-Jewell Dramatic company, is in town, and has arranged to open here for three nights, beginning Monday next. His organization is well spoken of by the press, in their repertoire being Lynwood, the White Slave, and the Black Flag.

Programme.

PART II.

Notice in particular our attractions in millinery and mantles, of the latest and most popular styles, show room 2nd floor where Mrs. Hall, will be pleased to show you the new goods. Lansdowne House, Yates St. John Partridge, prop.

Big Gun Competition.

The annual practice and competition of the B.C.B.G.A. with the 64-pounders will take place from Finlayson's Point battery on Saturday and Monday, the 4th and 6th of October. There will also in all probability be a detachment from New Westminster present to take part in the competition.

A Narrow Escape.

As the Eastern train, which reached Vancouver yesterday, was leaving Agassiz, a drunken man endeavored to jump on, but, slipping, fell between the cars. Fortunately he was, as if by a miracle, pulled out, without being hurt. Of course, he had a few bruises.

Customs' Requirements.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, who will arrive here on a visit of inspection this evening, will have his attention drawn more particularly to the necessity of increased accommodation for the public at the Victoria Custom House. The need of at once proceeding with the construction of a new appraiser's warehouse will also be fully dwelt upon by Collector Milne.

Opposition.

As soon as certain formalities in regard to the obtaining of the charter have been disposed of, full particulars of the plan of a company recently formed to offer opposition to the V. & E. Telephone Co. will be made public. This new telephone company contend that the rates for service charged by the V. & E. Co. are exorbitant, and propose to reduce them. They will introduce American instruments and guarantee satisfactory service.

Music at the Art Exhibition.

The following music will be performed this evening by the I.O.O.F. orchestra of ten pieces at the B. C. Art association exhibition in the city hall:

Alpine Blossom.....Chas. Grosse
Snowflake Valse.....J. Resch
Mignonette.....E. Beyer
(Gavop.)
Polo.....E. N. Catlin
Erminie Lancers.....Tobani
National Anthem.....E. Beyer

A SHORT SPECIAL SESSION

Of the City Council—Vote of Thanks to Mr. Robert Ward, J. P.

The council's adjourned session was very short last evening, and after sitting awhile in committee, Ald. McKillican in the chair, they rose, reported progress and passed the bill as a whole with the amendments which had been made. Ald. Harrison gave notice that he would introduce a by-law to extend the municipal corporation limits.

Ald. Holland drew attention to the fact that recently Mr. Robert Ward, J.P., had attended the police court in the absence of Mr. Richards, and the cases he was engaged in occupied two whole days. As there was no remuneration attached to this duty, he thought the council should extend a vote of thanks to Mr. Ward.

Ald. Vigelius warmly seconded the motion, which was unanimously passed, after which the council adjourned.

THE BURNING ACCIDENT.

TO THE EDITOR: In your issue of this morning there appears an article entitled "A Reprehensible Practice" to which I ask your attention, inasmuch as there are some mis-statements which you will kindly correct for the sake of the sorrowing parents. I will here give the true facts of the case. When Mrs. McKenzie left the children she did not lock them in, as your article represents. When she left, a neighbor was in the house with the children. She went out on a message with the intention of being absent only a few minutes, but was detained longer than she intended, and, to her horror, found that her little girl had been so severely burned as to necessitate her removal to the hospital before she arrived. She was very careful in removing matches out of the children's reach, and has been yet unable to find out what was the cause of the child's dress taking fire. Evidently the fire had caught from behind, as she was far worse burned there than any other part of her body. The other two children were not near her at the time, and the child was asked repeatedly how it happened, but always gave the same answer, that she did not know. She was a very intelligent child, and, if she had known, would have given a truthful account of the occurrence. I may state that there was no fire going in grate or stove in the house, and the father and mother have done all in their power to find out the cause, which as yet remains a mystery. Kindly insert this letter in your next issue for the sake of the aggrieved parents, who are sunk deeply in sorrow at the loss of their little one.—Yours truly, G. D.

THE NEW CATHEDRAL.

How the Idea is Received—Let there be a Vigorous Effort Throughout the Diocese and the Edifice Completed.

The Church of England element in this city appears to be well satisfied that, comparatively speaking, the meeting of Monday night was so successful. However, it is felt that while the iron is hot there might have been a larger subscription on the part of the representatives present of "the most influential and wealthiest church in Victoria." There are very many who object to the idea of the Diocese being content for the present with the construction of a chancel only. They hold there is ample money available which energetic effort will not fail to bring out. Some of the Presbyterians are pluming themselves upon the fact that the example set by them has been so well followed by the Anglicans, the Roman Catholics and the Methodists, while some of the last named express satisfaction that they should have been held up as patterns to the mother Church from which they sprang. All, however, are happy to notice the display of energy which has been made, and hope it will have a beneficial influence on the entire Christian community. There is an outside element which has expressed no small amount of pleasure at the prospect of an elegant and commodious cathedral being reared on so commanding a site as that which is now occupied by a mere wooden structure. They wish to see something put up that would be worthy of the city of Victoria, the capital of the province, and the premier diocese on the Pacific coast. The feeling towards the movement on all sides may be described as most encouraging, but it must be stimulated to its utmost from one end of the diocese to the other. It is not a parish church or a mere chancel that is wanted, but a handsome, imposing, and in every way well appointed diocesan see.

LITTLE LOCALS.

The Yosemite last night brought two full carloads of paper.

The bridge over the Burnside road is once more open for traffic.

Unique music cabinets, ladies' secretaries, tea tables, shaving stands, etc., at John Weiler's.

A number of delegates to the Young Men's Christian Association Convention left last night for Portland.

Leigh & Son's saw mill is proceeding apace towards completion. It is expected to be running in a few weeks.

Artistic novelties in bamboo furniture, just received by John Weiler, 51 to 55 Fort street.

The street car house on Pembroke street is about finished, scarcely more than the interior now remaining to be done.

The council were again at home last evening, their official meeting place looking neat and clean after its purification and improvement.

A large space at the corner of Bridge street is being cleared and levelled for the Rock Bay coal yard which is to be established there.

Another carload of stoves at Geo. Powell & Co.'s, Cheapside.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at a meeting of the New Eureka Silver Mining Co. held on the 17th inst. at the office of the secretary.

Among other items on the provincial police court programme to-day will be the trial of a sailor charged with shooting hen pheasants out of season.

Mary's little lamb, alone and lonely, created considerable amusement on Government street late last night. It was evidently looking for an owner.

Tea and Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, and other goods just opened at R. A. Brown & Co.'s, Douglas Street.

The City of Kingston last night brought in one carload of bran, one of beer and one of mixed merchandise; her outward freight comprised 1,150 cases of salmon and one carload of rice.

Building operations are very brisk in the northern end of the city. In addition to the Pitts' buildings which are now about completed, there are many new residences started almost daily.

Hanging Lamps, Table Lamps, and Hand Lamps at R. A. Brown & Co.'s, Douglas street.

Capt. Whitelaw, now that permission has been refused him to go whaling in the gulf with his wrecking steamer, will complete the fitting up of the Alexander and do the required work with her.

By the breaking of a stake part of a car of cordwood got spilled on the E. & N. Railway near Parsons' Bridge yesterday afternoon, causing the following car to leave the rails and slightly damage the track.

The new staircase in the main government building at James Bay, though not yet quite completed, will be manifestly an immense improvement upon the old one. It is much wider, and is by no means so hard to climb as the old one, while in appearance it will be infinitely superior.

PERSONAL.—Miss E. C. DONNELLY, fashionable modiste, returned by last steamer, and will on Monday next be pleased to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as may favor her with a call, at the the LANSDOWNE House, Yates street. Satisfaction guaranteed in every particular. 1m

The cost of the asphalt sidewalk now being laid around the new city hall is to come out of the pocket of the Hall committee. In order to make the work complete however, the street committee will accept the responsibility of paying for the continuation of the walk around the municipal block of buildings.

"Miss Middleton's Lover," and "A Forbidden Marriage," both by Laura Jean Libbey (Victoria: Kerr & Co.) are both novels of the lighter class of literature, with some points of interest about them, and a little to be learned from both. They will profitably spend an hour.

Bird cages in variety at R. A. Brown & Co.'s, Douglas street.

The changes and improvements going on about the Rock Bay tannery, make the place look busy about there. A new and very substantial wharf is being built, and the big chimney is completed. Now many weeks are expected to elapse before it it set in operation, and another source of employment added to Victoria.

The telephone company are working hard to get their wires elevated to the new poles, and are making every endeavor to concentrate the collection of overhead wires which are now becoming very numerous. Everyone who can afford it is seeking to have a telephone in his residence.

Razors in cases, ladies companions, a new line of pocket cutlery and shaving materials, just arrived, at Fox's, 78 Government street.

It is rumored that a gentleman well known in educational circles has entered the lists in the competition opened by an eastern paper, the prize being a trip round the world, for the one who constructs the greatest number of words contained in "British North America." The party in question is understood to have already got well into the thousands.

The C. P. R. are selling excursion tickets to Banff and return at $35. These tickets are limited to 60 days and allow passengers the privilege of stopping off at Harrison Hot Springs, Glacier and Field. A. Cameron, agent.

PENCIL AND BRUSH.

The Opening of the First Exhibition of the British Columbia Art Association.

A Full List of Exhibits, Many Possessing Real Merit—An Attraction for Two Weeks.

About one hundred lovers of art and specially invited friends of the British Columbia Art association were present at a private view of the pictures now hung in the roomy upper story of the City hall, yesterday. The exhibition proper, the first ever held under the auspices of the Society, opens at 11 a.m. to-day and continues for two weeks, days and evenings. By this very creditable display of paintings, the suitability of the room occupied, for exhibitions of like size and character is well demonstrated. The lights are good; the amount of wall space available, ample; and the ventilation so perfect as to ensure the comfort of all visitors. There has been very little attempt made at decorating the room, a few graceful festoons of ivy and a distribution of bric-a-brac in the corners of is just enough to break the monotony of the lines of pictures. Of these there are about 350 shown, all but three or four being the work of members of the society. Oils predominate, and, in almost all, the modern French school or broad style is followed. Artistic ability of no mean order is very generally displayed, and the Art Association may boast of having among its members those who thoroughly understand how to use their brushes so as to produce the effects of Nature herself. In the hanging, great care has been taken by the committee to prevent exhibitors feeling that their works have been skied. In fact, had the committee not felt this delicacy, a better general effect would doubtless have been obtained.

Among the productions of a number of the junior members of the society are copies in pencil, crayon and oil. Copies, however, will not be allowed in future, and were only this year on account of the short notice given, which would not allow beginners time to study original work, or prepare anything creditable for hanging. The beginners' work referred to does not form more than a small fraction of the exhibition, and it is of very fair merit, indeed. Nos. 122 and 147, two copies in black and white, night marine views by Miss Brady, are especially creditable; as well as a number of flower copies by a variety of authors. In the pencil and crayon work Miss Twiss shows a study from still life, on which a great amount of careful work has been done.

Architectural studies occupy a prominent place in the drawings, as well as in the water colors, Mr. R. R. Bayne having in the former a screen containing sketches, many of them in suitable colors, of the architecture of almost every age and country, as well as designs in ornamentation and wall decoration. This screen affords material for long and careful study. In the water colors Mr. Sorby shows a variety of famous buildings, his pictures being very carefully finished and artistically excellent.

In the water colors proper, Mr. T. Bamford has a pretty collection of sketches of British Columbia scenery, all carefully worked out and particularly good in the sky and water effects. Mr. J. Carpenter shows a variety of work, principally views in the Channel Islands, Sark and Jersey, and in Ireland. The coloring is good, and the artist proves himself specially clever in working up rocky foregrounds. Mr. Carpenter's studies of the Channel Island scenery are much better than his local work, in which his skies and water are below the average. Mr. T. S. Gore makes a particularly good showing of Columbia river and Northern scenery, in which the purity of his skies calls for favorable comment. Mr. Shrapnel devotes especial attention to Canadian winter scenery, in which he shows some very careful and difficult work. The best of his water colors is undoubtedly a cascade in Wales. Mr. W. Allen, a young artist but a promising one, displays two or three water color sketches, in which the fidelity of the foliage drawing and coloring is noteworthy.

Oil colors, of course, compose the major portion of the exhibition. They are to be found in all sizes and in all degrees of merit and demerit. Mr. Bamford's brush has been most prolific, and he has on view 58 pictures bearing his signature. Of his works, four are most conspicuous. They are "A Breezy Day in the Straits," "The Water Front, Victoria," "Sunrise over the City," and "Among the Firs, in Beacon Hill Park." The treatment of the firs in the last picture mentioned and the well conveyed idea of distance in the path is good; in the water front picture much conscientious work has been done, and the shimmer on the water is well worked out; "Sunrise over the City," possesses a sentimental charm which is very pleasing; the "Breezy Day in the Straits," displays good ideas in the treatment of clouds and water. Among the other most prominent work of the same artist are "Oak Bay in early morning," "Sunset on the Kokailah" (in which the sunlight is particularly good), "Moonlight on Church Hill," Evening in the Woods," "Mount Baker in Early Morning," "Sumas Lake," "A Stormy Day in the Straits," "A Rainy Day on the Fraser," and "Across the Straits." Mr. Bamford shows himself an indefatigable laborer out of doors; his works give a very good idea of the atmosphere of Victoria, as well as showing many artistic beauties in places generally regarded as devoid of interest to the painter—Victoria harbor for example.

Mr. Shrapnel's special study is still life, and his coloring, as well as drawing, is truthful and effective. His game pictures are capital; too much praise can hardly be bestowed on them. In his "Buffalo Hunt" study is required to fully ensure appreciation; the idea of the extent of the immense herd is well conveyed. One of the best exhibitors, by many pronounced the best, is Mr. W. Wilson, of Duncan's, an artist of the old school, whose several works are all finished so carefully that the mark of the brush cannot be discovered. His Scottish moorland scenes and foregrounds are certainly unexcelled in British Columbia, and each of his nine pictures on the walls bear the distinctive marks of genius. Mr. F. Pauline in his "Henley-on-the-Thames," "Yosemite," etc., also shows great persistency and careful working out. His pictures bear most critical inspection, although they are not as apt to attract the attention of the casual passer-by as more pretentious exhibits. Mr. W. H. Bainbridge is a hard-working artist evidently, and his several pictures on view are creditable to him. Mr. W. Allen's "Haying" and "Evening," as well as his flowers, are worthy of favorable mention. There are scores of other pictures on the walls, which are well worth attention, but as the catalogue was not yet issued, yesterday, remark of their merit must be deferred.

Figures and portraits are few in number, Mr. Roland Lee contributing almost the entire collection. His "Temptation of Saint Anthony" after Tamborini's famous work in the Florence Gallery, calls for general remark, as also his pair of pictures entered as "The Fisherman and his Wife." Miss Campbell, a recent arrival from Philadelphia, has two magnificent portraits, showing perfect coloring, as well as a pretty sketch, "The Peasant Girl," which alone would stamp the artist as a genius.

Painting on porcelain, painting on China, modelling in clay, and flower painting in both oils and water colors, claim their share of attention, but comment must be reserved for another day. The show is a good one, and deserves the hearty support of every Victorian. Hon. John Robson opened the exhibition at 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and in doing so paid a glowing tribute to the quality of the work shown. He congratulated the members upon the success which had attended their efforts; they would do much to elevate and refine public taste, and to foster a love for the beautiful, as well as to give the outside world some idea of the beauty of British Columbia scenery. The exhibition was a surprise, a revelation, to him, and he earnestly hoped the society would meet with the success they so well deserved. The hon. gentleman's remarks were greeted with applause as he resumed his seat.

ONLY A TINY COFFIN.

Mrs. McKenzie's Infant Daughter has Succumbed to Her Terrible Injury.

It would have been a miracle, pure and simple, had the unfortunate child of Mrs. Mackenzie recovered from the terrible burning she received Monday. All hope was abandoned as soon as she reached the hospital, yet everything that skill or tenderness could suggest was done to alleviate the little one's sufferings. She was at once put under chloroform, to a slight extent, so that the extreme keenness of the pain should not be felt. For several hours she lingered on, death fully expected by those watching, and most surely coming. At midnight the little life had flown and the body was at rest. It was an exceedingly sad affair throughout, the sight of the tiny sufferer bringing tears to the strongest eyes.

Something moved along the street, slowly and solemnly. It was a little hearse containing a tiny coffin. The children were just breaking from the school wild and joyous in their liberty. They stopped suddenly in their merriment and a cloud came over their happy innocent faces. They saw the little hearse with its silent occupant, and they thought of the merry voice, now still, and the happy little body, now stiff and cold, that only a day or so since had romped with them. Some boys engaged in a dispute over a game stopped to gaze with that sadness which characterizes childhood's serious moments, at the quiet procession which moved past them. Their game was over, and they went home quietly.

Still the little cortege proceeded, passing on its way groups of happy, laughing children who looked up wonderingly and whispered to each other. It passed a horny-handed workman trudging along to his daily toil. He stood aside to let the little hearse pass; gazing on the tiny coffin his eyes became moist and he wiped them with the sleeve of his coat. He thought of a bright-eyed little darling at home, the joy of his old age. His heart sank at the thought of the awful blank which would be made in his life should he be deprived of that little star.

On it went slowly toward the cemetery, where a tiny grave awaited the tiny coffin. It was put out of sight, and with its concealment was extinguished a little ray of sunshine in one home.

WEDDED AMID CHEERING.

The Marriage of Two Salvation Army Officers in London.

The New York Herald correspondent cables: An illustration of the great prestige of the Salvation Army in this city and country was afforded to-day at the marriage of Commandant Herbert Booth, third son of General Booth, and Captain Carrie Schock, a comely lass of Dutch extraction. The ceremony took place at Clayton in the immense building known as Congress Hall, which is one of the Salvation Army's metropolitan barracks.

For hours before the appointed time bands of Salvationists were streaming towards the hall from every side. Some came in gorgeous uniforms, with bands and waving banners. Thousands of men and women wore only every-day garments, making up in fervor what they lacked in style.

The enthusiasm passed all bounds as the leader appeared with the bride and groom. Those who had handkerchiefs, parasols, newspapers or canes to wave, waved them, shouting the while; those who were empty-handed shouted louder, if possible. Finally the tumult wore itself out, and the General began the marriage after the Salvationist fashion. The bride was plainly dressed in the usual serge bonnet and gown. She was then interrogated, the General remarking playfully that it was not yet too late to retreat. Finally, amid wild hurrahs, the General clasped their hands and said:

"Those whom God has joined together let no man or devil put asunder."

At this point the scene on the platform somewhat resembled the culminating point of a grand spectacular ballet. The background was dense with the blue and scarlet uniforms of the excited Salvationists, while the venerable General, with his beard and hair in picturesque disorder, held over the heads of the newly-married couple a banner bearing the words "Blood and fire."

The young wife was not a bit embarrassed and gazed lovingly into her husband's eyes, showing, as she turned, the red, white and blue sash hung over her shoulder, and bearing the words "Ever more God's."

The musicians blew themselves black in the face and the crowd became frantic. Here was a proper time for a collection, which was large, and the bridegroom sang a song composed by the bride, who in turn sang one composed by the bridegroom. After this both made rousing speeches and seemed to become so absorbed in the subject as to forget the occasion of their presence. The bride showed herself a woman, however, by coquettishly remarking, pointing to her husband:

"I won't say much that is complimentary about him. I think a woman has a special responsibility to keep a man humble."

A PEEP AT MARS.

M. Flammarion, the eminent astronomer, says:—"I have just received some new observations concerning the planet Mars made this summer at some of the principal observatories of our own planet. They teach us some very strange things. It seems that at certain seasons of the year the oceans of the planet Mars are divided into two parts, just as if a gigantic bridge or bank of sand had been thrown across them from one shore to the other. For instance, there is, among other seas in the planet Mars, one situated at the 99th degree longitude east of the meridian 0.25 degrees longitude on the theastral tropic. On account of the isolation as well as the superficial area, this sea resembles our Black sea. Hitherto this sea has always been observed as uniform and nearly circular, but last June M. Schiaparelli, of the Milan observatory, discovered that this sea was cut in two by a yellow band which divides it into unequal parts. A lake, somewhat similar to our Lake Tschad, was also noticed to have been divided into two parts at the same time. An excellent and very minute observer in England discovered that five immense canals were also divided into two parts by two straight lines absolutely parallel to each other, in the same manner that a certain number of enigmatic canals were noticed to have been divided some years ago. What can these seas, lakes and canals, that divide themselves up in this manner, be? As inhabitants of this earth we have only our observatories and our terrestrial ideas in our mind. These are insufficient to divine what takes place in another world, but such discoveries are none the less worthy of all our attention."

FUTURE QUEEN OF ENGLAND.

H.R.H. the Princess Victoria of Teck, daughter of Princess Mary of Teck, one of the German royalties, is a tall, fair girl, with rather full face and blue-gray eyes. She is lucky enough to have such a wide shoulder and swelling bust as are seen to best advantage in a tailor-made gown. Her figure is truly magnificent, and she is reckoned among the divinest and fairest daughters of Europe. Princess Victoria is 18 years of age, and is partially engaged to Prince Albert Victor, eldest son of the Prince of Wales and heir-apparent to the throne of England. The Prince is much in love with the charming Victoria, but his grandmother, the Queen, and his father do not as yet quite approve of the match. "Collars and Cuffs," as the Prince is facetiously called, is the Princess' second cousin, and has been fortunate enough to gain her favor. The Princess is a very cultivated and clever woman, and is admirably fitted to fill the position she may in future be called upon to occupy—that of Queen of England.

The Queen Pays All Expenses.

"The Queen's last "Free Trip to Europe" having excited such universal interest, the publishers of that popular magazine offer another and $200 extra for expenses, to the person sending them the largest list of English words constructed from letters contained in the three words "British North America." Additional prizes, consisting of Silver Tea Sets, China Dinner Sets, Gold Watches, French Music Boxes, Portiere Curtains, Silk Dresses, Mantel Clocks, and many other useful and valuable articles will also be awarded in order of merit. A special prize of a Seal Skin Jacket to the lady, and a handsome Shetland pony to the girl or boy (delivered free in Canada or the United States), sending the largest lists. Everyone sending a list of not less than twenty words will receive a present. Send four 3c. stamps for complete rules, illustrated catalogue of prizes, and sample number of the Queen.

June 25 a meteor fell with a terrific explosion on the farm near Washington, Ks., scattering great quantities of rock in every direction. The shock was felt for miles around, many people thinking it was an earthquake.

In the manufacture of paper this country has been making tremendous strides during the last few years. The industry has been brought to such a high state of development, and the production reduced so much in cost by improved machinery and the successful use of wood pulp under a special process, that a large export trade has been established particularly with England. A market has also been found in Australia and elsewhere.

Ten years ago there were only 142 cotton mills in the south, of 542,000 spindles, consuming 181,000 bales of cotton. In 1889 there were 346 cotton mills, in highly prosperous condition, using 2,000,000 spindles and consuming 500,000 bales of cotton a year. In this industry the south is just beginning to move; ten years ago they manufactured one-fortieth of the cotton crop of the south and now they manufacture one twelfth.

A Baggageman's Awful Mistake.

I always have an eye out for my trunk when I travel. After I have received a check and seen it dumped into the baggage car I am quite sure it will go a certain distance, but when that distance has been covered my anxiety is again aroused. When I changed railroads at Philadelphia the other day I realized that I had a contract by which my trunk ought to change with me, but nevertheless the fear that it would go astray and finally bring up in New Orleans or San Francisco, started me over to Camden at an early hour to watch the transfer. I expected to see my trunk come over at the last moment, and be left on the platform as I moved off, but a great surprise was in store for me. It came over an hour ahead of time, along with a big load of others, and I stood around to see it come off the waggon. A gentle word or a nickle cigar will sometimes have great influence with the men who are hired at so much per month to damage your trunks. They were dropped off, one by one, each one receiving more or less injury in the fall, and by-and-by the two fiends on the wagon came to my trunk. I had two cigars in my open palm, and was about to step forward with my kindest smile when the depot baggageman suddenly sang out:

"Here, now, be mighty careful of that trunk!"

"What for?"

"Because I say so. Let it down as gently as if it were glass."

The trunk was lowered with great care, and I approached the good man and asked to what sentiment on his part I should attribute the great favor.

"Is that your trunk?" he bluntly demanded.

"Yes sir."

"Let's see your check."

I produced it. He compared the figures and then called out in an awful voice;

"Get out o' this or I'll knock your blamed head off! I thought that trunk belonged to my sister!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Cruel Indignity.

"I beg your pardon, madam, for intruding upon you at meal-time," he said politely, "but may I ask you for a little salt?"

The lady brought him a salt box. He looked at it meditatively and leaned against one of the pillars of the porch.

"It is a foolish habit I have got into," he said, in an apologetic way, "and I dare say you will consider it one of questionable taste, but I always eat salt on my watermelon."

"But you haven't any watermelon," said the lady of the house.

"Thank you kindly for suggesting it," answered the seedy-looking tourist, gratefully. "Shall I eat the melon out here?"

"I don't see how you can. We have no watermelon to-day."

"No watermelon at all in the house?"

"None."

"Then, madam," said the caller, in the tone of an injured man, "permit me to return the salt. I will not say I am angry, but I am hurt—deeply hurt. You have raised my expectations and cruelly disappointed them. I leave you, madam, to your own reflections."

He made a low bow, handed back the salt box with the air of a King declining a dukedom, and two minutes later he was on the back porch at the next neighbor's asking for a little horse-radish.—Detroit Free Press.

ROMANCE OF MARRIAGE.

GREAT MEN WHO HATED OR LOVED THEIR WIVES.

Southey Had to Borrow the Ring and the Money for His Wedding—The Thorn Tree Planted by Request on Pretty Lady Cornwallis' Grave.

To count no man happy till he was dead was a maxim of the ancients. To count no man happy till you have examined into his married life may also have an element of practical wisdom in a world in which matrimonial mistakes are so common, and so commonly disastrous. Every one can read off a list of famous men who have notoriously been unhappy in domestic life. Among the married who secured happiness we find at least a few men of the first rank. Dr. Arnold leads the list; and the picture of him is one we are all more or less familiar with from the writings of Dean Stanley.

Lord Beaconsfield did not place his personal happiness in love and domestic joys. He was poor and his wife made him rich; he was ambitious of politics and his wife opened the door of success; he was ambitious of success in his career, and his wife sympathized keenly with him, and at least did not hamper him. He was grateful, he was faithful, he was kind, he was everything that a gentleman ought to be in such a case to a woman who really loved him; but perhaps his condition of mind was not, after all, happiness. Writing to his sister in 1839 he said: "As for 'love,' all my friends who married for love and beauty are either beating their wives or living apart from them. This is literally the case. I may commit many follies in life, but I never intend to marry for love, which, I am sure is a guarantee of infelicity." He was not favorably impressed by Mrs. Lewis when he met her the first time. "I was introduced, by particular desire, to Mrs. Wyndham Lewis, a pretty little woman, a flirt and a rattle; indeed gifted with a volubility I should think unequalled and of which I can convey no idea. She told me she liked silent, melancholy men! I answered that I had no doubt of it." Yet he was to marry her, and to find in her society a life of success and of high content at last. On April 12, 1867, when he defeated Mr. Gladstone's amendment to the reform bill, the younger members of the party extemporized a supper at the Carlton and begged of him to join them. But, as Lady Beaconsfield was never tired of repeating, "Dizzy came home to me." And she would add how he ate half the raised pie and drank the whole of the bottle of champagne which she had prepared in anticipation of his triumph. He was truly proud of him; and he was fond of telling her in joke that he had married her for her money, to which she would reply: "Ah, but if you had to do it over again you would do it for love"—a statement to which he always smilingly assented. Indeed he never lost an opportunity of eulogizing his wife in public, and on one occasion at a harvest home at Hughenden he spoke of her as "the best wife in England."

In dealing with the romance of marriage it was impossible, of course, to omit the story of Lady Sarah Lennox and George III. No doubt at all, if George had had his own way he would have made Lady Sarah his queen. He used to ride past the house in which she lived every day, and during the harvest Lady Sarah was often to be seen making hay on the lawn in a bewitching costume. When the king finally married the German princess, Lady Sarah was one of the bridesmaids. On this occasion an old nobleman, who had not been to court since the accession of the house of Hanover, paid his respects to the king. He was very old and almost blind, but struck by the beauty of Lady Sarah, and mistaking her for the queen, he plumped down on his honest old Jacobite knees to kiss her hand! Lady Sarah, very much confused, bade him rise, saying, "I am not the queen, sir." George Selwyn said of the old nobleman: "He was always partial to pre-enders," a slap at Lady Sarah which deserved revenge.

Two of the remarkable men of the last century were unfortunate in their love affairs. Gen. Wolfe was rejected in his first love affair, and, as every one knows, he was killed before he married Miss Lowther, to whom he was engaged, and who subsequently married some one else.

Lord Cornwallis made a love-match, but his wife was so much attached to him and so grief-stricken at his absence during such long periods, that she fell into a jaundice and died a few weeks after her husband had flung up his command and come home to see her. She directed that a thorn tree should be planted over her grave and that her name should not be graven upon the headstone. It was after her death that Lord Cornwallis returned to service in America, the end of which was also, for him, melancholy enough.

We read with a good deal of amusement of the romantic and passionate attachment of young Grote, afterwards the historian of Greece, for Harriet Lewin, who is described in his letters as being, of course, very lovely; but who, in after days at least, was eccentric, strong featured and masculine.

Among the runaway matches mentioned is that of Henry Fox, the first Lord Holland. He fell in love with Lady Caroline Lennox, and, being refused by the family, ran away with the lady. But his subsequent career fully justified the rashness of his action; for he certainly showed that he knew how to make money and to keep it, till Charles Fox, Holland cultivated in him the reality of giving it away. John Scott, afterwards Lord Eldon, also ran away with his wife at a very early age. The widow from whom Bessie Surtees descended into her lover's arms is still pointed out to every visitor to Newcastle as he passes before the old house—he home of the wealthy banker, her father, in Sandhill not 500 yards from the great suspension bridge that spans the Tyne." In his old age Lord Eldon used to tell how piteous was their condition. On the third morning after the union our funds were exhausted; we had not a home to go to, and we knew not whether our friends would ever speak to us again." One of his earliest legal experiences was in reading, as substitute, the Vinerian law lecture. "I began," he says, "without knowing a single word that was in it. It was upon the statute of young men running away with maidens." Fancy me reading with about 150 boys and young men all giggling at the professor. Such a tittering audience no one ever had." The scanty means of the young people had an unpleasant effect. They developed in the pretty young bride habits of thrift which hardened into extreme parsimony. She was also very averse to society, for the runaway marriage made her delicately sensitive about society in the beginning and at last it became distasteful to her. Curiously enough, their eldest daughter married without the consent of her parents.

The story of Southey's love and marriage can never be absent from such a compilation of this sort. No man ever had less right to get married than Southey. He had no money no profession, no reputation, no place in the world, and, more than this, he was dependent on his friend Cottle who had been supplying him with money. Cottle had to supply him even with the ring and the money for the wedding. After that beginning he lived a long life of anxious, earnest literary labor, earning not much, winning no great fame, but leaving behind him a memory rich in every sort of private virtue and worth. No doubt his wife, both as a bride and during all her life, had much the heaviest part of the daily burden to bear. She bore it nobly, and died, indeed a martyr to duty towards her husband and her children, her last days being clouded by mental troubles which carried her to be secluded. Forty years had they been married when Edith died. Southey's own life was not to be long and his latest days were also passed in a gentle mental alienation which continued till he died.

The list of the "unhappily married" is large and brilliant; it includes William Beckford, the author of "Vathek," who, however, does not seem to have deserved a happy life, and whose enormous fortune and great talents were alike wasted; Lady Blessington, who from being the widow of a penniless officer, blazed as Lady Blessington over London society, fizzled out again after Lord Blessington's death, and had a fitful splendor once more as leader of a quasi literary coterie, and finally smashed up and went away to Paris where she died suddenly. She and Count D'Orsay led a sort of matrimonial partnership for some years, until the smash up took place in London. Lord Bolingbroke is also quoted with propriety, as an example of unhappy domestic experiences. In his case, however, the faults were all on his side. He was absolutely without morality and almost without decency, for he bragged to his wife of his early amours and successes till she was forced, in self-defence, to close his mouth with an effective sarcasm. Lord Lytton in our own time was also unhappily, though romantically married; and a large part at least of the subsequent misery was due to his temper and conduct. But perhaps full justice has not been done to the ill effects of the long and hard struggle with poverty which he maintained with such success, but with such constant labor during many years.

Among the disappointed men of genius may be mentioned Buckle the historian of civilization; Henry Fielding the novelist; Edward Gibbon, the historian; Lord Mansfield, and, in early life, John Wesley. The case of Gibbon has some satirical features. He fell in love with Mlle. Curchod, at Lausanne, Switzerland, and "she listened," he says, "to the voice of truth and passion; and I might presume to hope that I had made some impression on a virtuous heart." But on his return to England he found that his father would not consent to the match. "After a painful struggle," he says, "I yielded to my fate; I sighed as a lover; I obeyed as a son." It may be difficult to decide without a doubt whether his obedience was due to filial piety or to weak nerves and a feeble pulsation. The lady did quite as well, for she married a distinguished man. Gibbon remained single all his life and devoted his time to his history, finishing it at Lausanne, the scene of his youthful attachment. Charles Fox's private life was made somewhat objectionable by his having as his wife a Mrs. Cranistead, to whom he was not married for many years, though finally they were united legally. The marquis of Wellesley also made a mistake that lasted many years in marrying a Frenchwoman who had been his wife in name only for a long time. No doubt it was the right thing to do; but these right things are done so late that they almost cease to be right, and the misery they inflict is always lasting and real. —Montreal Gazette.

RACING BULLOCKS IN INDIA

They Are Speedy, but Can't be Caught to Run in Straight Lines.

In India the favorite animals, both for speed and for indurance, are the native bullocks. The animals are small, wiry, muscular, and swift. They are trained to race and run well, not only under the saddle, but in harness. The Indians are fond of racing their beasts, and the sport is encouraged by the English part of the population.

The animal is guided by a cord through the nose, but the driver places more reliance on whip and voice than on the cord. The Indians are natural gamblers, and will bet their last rupee on the result of a race, taking so much interest in it that a penniless native has been known to wager his liberty and that of his family for an entire year, and sell himself into voluntary slavery as the result of losing a bet. The races are frequently attended by serious accidents, from the fact that, although the bullocks may be trained to great swiftness, it seems almost impossible to teach them to run in a straight line. They will bunch together, and thus frequently smash one or more of the vehicles.

Exciting as are the bullock races when the beasts are harnessed and driven by native drivers, they are far more so when the bullocks are ridden by European soldiers or sailors. The chief danger in a race of this description lies in the falls which are the almost inevitable result of an attempt to ride these awkward animals.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Proverbs of the Sea.

The sea refuses no river.
The ocean is made of small drops.
It is a great way to the bottom of the sea.
It is but a stone's throw to the bottom of the sea.
He that would sail without danger must never come on the main sea.
He sets his sail to every wind.
Hoist your sail when the wind is fair.
Being at sea, sail; being on land, settle.
He who goes to sea must sail or sink.
It is easy to sail with the wind and tide.
A big ship needs deep water.
A mariner must have his eyes on the rocks and sand as well as the North Star.
He that will not sail till all dangers are over will never put to sea.
He that will not sail till he have fair wind will lose many a voyage.
Many grains of sand will sink a ship.
Better lose an anchor than a ship.
With broken rudder the vessel is soon lost.
He who can steer need not row.
The first in the boat can choose his oar.
He goes the boat without oars.
To have an oar in every man's barge.
Good riding at two anchors men have told.
For if one fail the other will hold.
Do not trust all in the same boat.
Too many sailors will sink a ship.
Ships fear fire more than water.
To cast water in the sea.
He cannot find water in the sea.
He seeks water in the sea.
Helping the unworthy is throwing water in the sea.
As true as the sea burns.
As welcome as water in a leaky ship.
The water that supports the ship is the same that sinks it.
Large fish live in deep waters.
By the small boat one reaches the ship.
Who embarks with the devil must sail with him.
The soul is the ship, the mind is the rudder, the thoughts are the oars and truth is the port.
Women are ships, and must be manned.
A ship and a woman always want trimming.
A ship and a woman are always repairing.
Give a woman luck and cast her into the sea.
Who won't be ruled by rudder must be ruled by rock.—American Notes and Queries.

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL and ONLY GENUINE.

Advice to Invalids—If you wish to obtain relief from pain and anguish, to calm and quiet, refreshing sleep, free from headache, assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating system of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne late Army Medical staff, to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, etc.

 Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera had been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE—See "Lancet," December 31, 1864.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Caution—Beware of Pharcy and Imitations.

Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT, 33, Great Russell-square, Bloomsbury, London.

LOCAL.

The steamer Princess Louise is at Spratt's wharf taking a cargo for the North, for which she leaves to-morrow.

The steamer City of Topeka from Alaska is due.

The clipper ship Titania is to carry the Hudson's Bay Co.'s first shipment of furs for the season to London. Another shipment will be made via the C.P.R. about the same time, the two lots arriving in London in time for the January and March sales.

It is expected that the Yosemite, instead of the Amelia, will be secured for the trip to Port Crescent Saturday. If this can be done a much larger number of excursionists can be carried.

Steamer R. P. Rithet brought down with her on her last trip 750 cases of salmon from various canneries, to be forwarded East by steamer City of Kingston and Northern Pacific railroad company.

Steamer Rainbow for New Westminster was yesterday crowded to the guards, and owing to the great amount of freight which she had to take on did not leave until 9 o'clock. She had on board a fine collection of blooded stock for the New Westminster show.

The fine American clipper ship Henry Villard, 1,533 tons, now on a voyage from New York to Tacoma, has been chartered by Messrs. Robert Ward and Co. to load a cargo of canned salmon at this port for Great Britain, and will be due here in about a month.

Ship carpenters are busy on the sealing schooners lying in the upper harbor. They are undergoing a general overhauling after their long northern cruise.

Steamer Mystery was yesterday fitted with a new smokestack, which was rendered necessary on account of the insufficient draught of the original one.

Mr. Stephens' new boat is approaching completion, and will be ready for launching shortly. He is getting out the lines for another boat in the Clyde ship yard.

NANAIMO'S LABOR DAY.

How it was Celebrated—Some of the Speeches.

According to the Free Press Nanaimo's "Gala Labor Day" of Saturday was characterized by one of the largest processions and gatherings ever seen there. The mottos borne in the procession were significant of sympathy with the Wellington strikers and of support of the eight-hour movement. At the rear of the procession came a string of carriages, among their occupants being Mr. Samuel M. Robins, superintendent of the New Vancouver Coal Company; Mr. D. W. Gordon, M.P.; Mr. G. Norris, of the Nanaimo Free Press; Mayor Hilbert, Mr. T. Keith, M.P.P.; Alderman G. Baker, Mr. W. M. Hilbert and City Clerk Gough. On the head of the procession reaching the public schools, the ranks opened to allow the leading carriages to pass, cheering for Mr. Samuel Robins being continually repeated. The procession having taken up a position on "the green," it is estimated by the Free Press that over two thousand five hundred people were assembled. Mr. Tully Boyce having introduced Mayor Hilbert as chairman, the latter called upon Mr. G. Norris, of the Nanaimo Free Press, to deliver an address. He paid a high tribute to Mr. Robins, of the Vancouver Coal company, whose able management and personal supervision of the business of the New Vancouver Coal company had been followed by progress and enterprise. Trades unionism had, he said, been the means of taking the chattel slavery blot from the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes. He advised discretion in using the tremendous power of organized labor, or it would bring about ruin and destruction. He said that even the benefits of organized labor are not always confined to the worker, for the members of the organizations naturally feel an inward pride in their principles being accepted by the employer, and consequently the latter finds he is getting better service than he would if every one was working with the sole object of getting so much money per day. He remarked that the present local house would contain a larger percentage of workingmen representatives than any parliament since responsible government was given to the province, and concluded by drawing a contrast between the existing condition of things at the Vancouver and Wellington collieries.

Addresses were also delivered by Messrs. Gordon, M.P., Keith, M.P.P., and Mr. G. Campbell, Mr. Tully Boyce pleading to be excused from speaking on account of a severe cold.

THE NAVY VS. VICTORIA.

This match was played yesterday afternoon on Beacon Hill, the Victoria team getting away with their opponents, thanks to the batting of Mr. Pooley and the bowling of Hudson and Sinclair. Mr. Thomas' wicket-keeping for the navy team was magnificent, the bowling of Hon. Mr. Stanhope being very good:

On Saturday next a return match will be played at Beacon Hill between the Victorias and a strong naval team, commencing at 10 o'clock a.m., sharp. This being the last match of the season, it is expected that there will be a large turn out. It is hoped that the band of the Warspite will be in attendance.

BASEBALL.

Catcher Zimmer has broken all previous catchers' records by participating in 103 successive championship games behind the bat. But for his being called home on account of illness of his family he would undoubtedly have caught in every championship game played by the Clevelands this season.

The Chicago reporters have won seven successive games. They have a great pitcher in Joe Murphy, who struck out fourteen men in the last game played and made a home run.

The Amities go to Westminster on Thursday, and it is probable will be opposed by the Kamloops team.

FOOTBALL.

With absolutely no practice, the Victoria Football club have decided to visit New Westminster on Friday to try conclusions with the Royal City club. "Our boys" have the satisfaction of knowing that their opponents are in about the same trim as they are, and the match, in consequence, may still be a contest worth looking at.

LACROSSE.

Speaking of the decision on the recent Cornwall-Shamrock match at Montreal, the Sportsman says: Their decision, by a strictly partisan vote, that a referee cannot make a mistake and that his decision upon the field is final and unquestionable, no matter how palpably erroneous it may be, is a most dangerous one. It puts a power into the hands of the referee that was never contemplated by the constitution, since it renders him absolutely infallible. He cannot even question his own decision.

THE TURF.

El Rio Rey will race no more. The two-year-old champion of last year has been sent to California, where he is to succeed his sire, Norfolk, in the stud. All around he was the best two-year-old that has ever been seen in this country, and if he had kept sound would have been a worthy rival to Salvator.

The stallion Nelson has trotted a mile in 2:15¼ over the half-mile track at Bangor, Me. He trotted first half in 1:06½, but stopped perceptibly in the last quarter. If he is given a chance on a kite-shaped track he will undoubtedly lower his present record of 2:15¼ the present season.

During the second heat of the 2:27 trot at St. Thomas, Ont., on Sept. 3rd, the driver of Brown Billy drove into the sulky of Odell, who was driving Ruby T., and Odell was thrown fully ten feet in the air, but escaped without a scratch. Ruby T. started to run, but was soon captured, and neither horse nor sulky was much injured.

An Australian horseman thinks more attention should be paid to breeding jockeys. He says the cross should be sire Irish, dam English for stay, and Jew for cunning. All the dare-devil riders are Irish, the English are bull dogs for hanging on and Providence favors the Jews.

It is stated that the new Saratoga management will offer special inducements for record-breaking next year, giving $3,000 extra when a record is broken in a purse race and $5,000 when such an occurrence takes place in connection with a stake race.

How uncertain horse racing is was proved by the victory of Prince Fonso. This colt, who was apparently unable to compete with broken-down and patched-up horses, last week, ran away in the Bridge handicap from such high-class races as Sinaloa II., Her Highness, and Torso. The reason for Prince Fonso's great improvement may have been due to the fact that the stake he ran for was worth about $5,000, while the value of each purse in the two races he started in last week was not more than $800 to the winner.

California turf reports state that San Mateo Farm will send the stallion Regal Wilkes, by Gus Wilkes, to beat the three-year-old record. As a two-year-old Regal Wilkes trotted in 2.20¾.

HERE AND THERE.

Secretary Worth, of the Brooklyn Brotherhood club, denies that the club is in a financial difficulty, all rumors to the contrary.

The new boat house at James Bay is rapidly approaching completion, while the floating platform for the boats which has been almost finished lies on the other side of the bridge, and will soon be towed to its place in front of the new building.

Brutalized Women.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—A recent challenge from Miss Hattie Stewart, of Norfolk, Va., now of Seattle, Wash., to meet Miss Hattie Leslie, of Buffalo, for the boxing championship and $500 a side, has brought out the following reply: "Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 22nd.—Having seen the challenge to me from Hattie Stewart, stating that she would meet me in a glove contest for $250 a side, and that she would allow me $100 for expenses, but she has no money put up. Now I will make an offer to Hattie Stewart, I will fight her, "Police Gazette" rules to govern, with gloves not over two ounces, bare hands preferred, and I will give or take $250 for expenses. We can get police protection, and if Stewart wants to fight in San Diego she will have to get the same. Now, let Stewart put up her money with the Police Gazette and I will cover it, and I will fight her one month after the articles are signed. This is no bluff." (Signed), Hattie Leslie, champion female pugilist (not boxer) of the world.
